Cue Sheet November 2012

- As you all probably know by now, the One-Act Play entry in the EODL festival November 9, 10&11 in Kingston has won two awards. The play, titled “The Actor’s Nightmare” was directed by Suzanne Irving. Congratulations again to Sandra Tobin and Lee Gaw, and to the rest of the cast for a terrific effort.
- Last month, a call was sent out for Vice-President. No-one answered that call. This month, we ask that someone think about yet another position – that of 1st Vice-President, on an interim basis, from now until next June. If the position is taken on an interim basis, there would be no obligation past next summer to continue on the executive if that is what the person wishes to do. What the present executive is looking for is another voice to express ideas/thoughts on timely matters. Do not let being new to the group deter you – we need fresh ideas! This may indeed be an excellent starting position to see if you would like to serve on the executive, without any obligation whatsoever...
Please respond to either myself or Lee Gaw at lgaw6565@gmail.com if you are interested.
- It’s official! Our Christmas Party will be held Sunday, December 16th, at 4:00 p.m. at the IOOF Hall in Kemptville. We will be having a potluck supper, with a Chinese auction. (Chinese Auction comprises everyone bringing a wrapped gift suitable for male/female with no name worth a dollar or two – the rest will be explained at the party). We would like some numbers for this party, so if you are coming, please RSVP, either to myself, or Lee Gaw at the above email. If there are not enough replies, this event will be cancelled.

If we have not received payment by the date of the Christmas Party (December 16th), we will consider you no longer interested in the goings on of Kemptville Players, and strike you from the Cue Sheet distribution list.

So far, I have only heard from one person regarding the Cue Sheet. Is there any interest at all in this information sheet? Do you want it to continue, or do you think it should be discontinued? You can either let me know, or let the group know at the December meeting/Christmas party – it will be an Agenda Item.
